The new SWIFTY rehabilitation buggy: safe, lightweight and manoeuvrable

The new rehabilitation buggy from Thomashilfen is a smart-looking companion with a wide range of options for individual configuration. Especially worthy of mention, however, is the fact that parents and their ideas were systematically involved in its construction. They possess the know-how when it comes to the day to day handling of rehabilitation products and what their children need from them. With the Swifty rehabilitation buggy you can tell right away that parents were involved in its development, parents who focussed on optimum seat comfort, ease of handling and an appealing design.

All children enjoy nature and taking part in outdoor activities.

Ideal for everyday use

A quick shopping trip, a short walk, a spontaneous visit to the zoo, - with this new rehabilitation buggy it's easier than ever to arrange activities at short notice. The modern-designed and manoeuvrable SWIFTY is ideal for tackling the spontaneous challenge of exciting and colourful day to day activities. It's plain to see that not only specialists were at work in the construction of this cute, lightweight buggy. No, here parents were involved in the development process! They know best that a rehabilitation buggy like this has to be easily manoeuvrable, simple to fold away and space-saving for ease of transport. That describes this comfortable "speedster" to a tee – with its ball bearing castors it's ready to offer safe support for all spontaneous activities.

Simply safe

Gunnar Thomas, the manufacturer's managing director, emphasises how this modern rehabilitation buggy is a top quality product, despite concentrating on the essentials: „It is our fundamental company philosophy to offer the utmost safety in our rehabilitation buggies“. The robust seat plate provides the necessary stability while seat depth, lower leg length and the upper body harness can be flexibly adjusted, ensuring child-friendly, individualised comfort. And that's not all the Swifty has to offer: quiet-running, puncture-free tyres, a temperature-regulating cover whose spacer fabric provides better air circulation and an ergonomically-adjustable push bar. A wide selection of therapy accessories from the EASyS range such as belts, leg muffs or weather protection can be easily installed. No wonder with such a well-constructed rehabilitation buggy!

The Swifty is a robust and modern buggy for all challenges.
